Dear CIRC-Members,

I am appreciative of your prompt answer of March 11 to my letter of March 10.

I note with satisfaction that you agree that CIRC needs to acquire a good understanding of the past of (anti-)doping in cycling and that your investigation will therefore be "as broad as possible".

However, you must have noted that I also emphasize in my letter specifically that this should encompass also an investigation into a number of issues/questions on WADA's/USADA's role and it strikes that you do not seem to be willing to confirm this. Could I therefore repeat my request to have a confirmation that the CIRC will indeed look into this.

There are strong indications that WADA has played an important role in the nomination of the CIRC-Members. Obviously it will be important for CIRC's credibility if it would guarantee its independence by confirming that WADA's role and actions are also under scrutiny. In this respect I refer to the specific issues that I raised in my letter.

Sincerely,

Hein Verbruggen
